Read the poem below carefully and answer any five questions :

Blow, blow, thou winter wind,
Thou art not so unkind
As man's ingratitude;
Thy tooth is not so keen,
Because thou art not seen,
Although thy breath be rude.
Heigh-ho! sing, heigh-ho! unto the green holly :
Most friendship is feigning, most loving mere folly :
Then, heigh-ho, the holly !
This life is most jolly.
Freeze, freeze, thou bitter sky,
That dost not bite so nigh
As benefits forgot :
Though thou the waters warp,
Thy sting is not so sharp
As friend remembered not.
Heigh-ho! sing, heigh-ho! unto the green holly :
Most friendship is feigning, most loving mere folly :
Then, heigh-ho, the holly !
This life is most jolly.

It is rare to find people who actually like to be single and want to stay that way. What one finds more frequently are men and women who say they adore being single but who spend most of their non-working time looking for some kind of sexual or romantic attachment. Tony, for example, has a certain image of life with a woman. It includes fidelity, marriage, domesticity. But until he finds the particular woman with whom he can have total communication he won't give up his freedom. He has had several almost major involvements in the past years. But each time he started measuring the current woman against his mental image. Reality never quite matched the ideal : the woman was too thin ; they didn't have that much in common-there were always objections. And he'd begin to long for his single days again. The last time this had happened, the woman found someone else. And he continued on his rounds of the single life. After a time Tony watched the woman got more and more involved with her new man. He began to rethink his relationship with her. She was actually more intelligent, prettier and more sexually exacting than he had realized. She would not have been a bad person to spend a life with. He even talked to her about that prospect, but she was too attached to her new beau and they were thinking of living together.

1. What is the writer's view of men and women?
2. What did Tony imagine a life with a woman to be like?
3. How did Tony's image of the woman change after she began seeing another man?
4. How did the writer develop the general statement about being single?

Much have I travell'd in the realms of gold,
And many goodly states and kingdoms seen;
Round many western islands have been
Which bards in fealty to Apollo hold.
Of one wide expanse had I been told
That deep-brow'd Homer ruled as his demesne;
Yet did I never breathe its pure serene
Till I heard Chapman speak out loud and bold
Then felt I like some watcher of the skies
When a new planet swims into his ken;
Or like stout Cortez when with eagle eyes
He star'd at the Pacific-and all his men
Look'd at each other with a wild surmise-
Silent, upon a peak in Darien.
